RENO HISTORIC

Tap into that pioneering spirit and explore some historical points of interest in the Riverwalk.

RIVERSIDE HOTEL

Widely considered Reno's birthplace, the site now occupied by the Riverside Hotel has offered some form of lodging for more than 150 years.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

The Twentieth Century Club building at 335 West First Street was erected in 1925 by Roush and Belz to serve Reno's first women's club.

HISTORIC RENO ARCH

The historic arch now located on Lake Street at the Truckee River is Reno's most recognizable symbol.

JACOB DAVIS'S TAILOR SHOP

Jacob Davis's tailor shop and residence. Jacob W. Davis and Levi Strauss & Company were issued patent #139121 for "Improvement in Fastening Pocket-Openings.

WINGFIELD HOUSE

Perched above Wingfield Park is the ghost of the home of George Wingfield (1876-1959), Nevada banker and miner.

FRISCH HOUSE

Gangsters. Murder. Mystery. Who would ever guess that a lovely but unassuming house, built in 1908 near downtown Reno, would be tied up with a sordid tale that remains one of Reno's most enduring intrigues?

LAKE MANSION

As you look at this impressive Italianate-style home, imagine the complication of moving its bulk--not once, but two separate times.
